

Electric Camera Motorcycle

No Gears
No Noise
No Emissions

Handheld or Remote Camera

Low Speed and High Speed Dolly

A low speed and high speed, modular camera dolly system that boasts no gears so you can create smooth camera movements from standing still to 70 mph on various terrains, no emissions so you can film indoors and maintain environmental consciousness, and very little noise so you can film after curfew or around animals. It's based on Zero Motorcycles' 2012 DS ZF9 and features constant acceleration from standing still to top speed. Range is approximately 100 miles with regenerative stopping and starting, 50 miles at 65 mph sustained. Full charge in five hours, plug in between shots to keep charged up.

The TripleDare Bike includes:

- Adjustable camera plates from 6" to 48" off the ground.
- Mitchell mounts and bowls (75mm, 100mm and 150mm).
- Mount behind or above the rear tire, in front of or above the front tire. Underslung capability.
- Full 22" diameter spacing for remote camera head movement.
- Mounting options using standard cheese plates, Speedrail stubs and modular T-slot assemblies.
- Rear running-boards for passenger Camera Operator stability. Ronin and Movi tested.
- Spare wheel assemblies (1 set dual sport tires with tube, 1 set street tires tubeless).
- Standard "Loss Payee" liability insurance required. Progressive rates depending on project.
- More info and test footage at www.TripleDareStunts.com/Videos.

Ian Eyre and Wayne Yawn are mechanical engineers and fabricators with over twenty years each in their fields, Ian performing and coordinating SAG-AFTRA stunts for movies, commercials and music videos and Wayne engineering in the racing industry and currently for Bimmerworld Racing.

TripleDare Bike credits:

Last Three Days

"Inside Hook: Mercedes Benz"

"Amy Song and the Acceptance Letter"

Day of Reckoning

Dir Brian Ulrich, DP Chris Haggerty, Stunt Coord Ian Eyre

Dir Leo Kei Angelos, DP Raul Gasteazoro

Dir/DP Leo Kei Angelos, Stunt Coordinator Ian Eyre

Dir Joel Novoa, DP Petr Cikhart, Stunt Coord Robert Dill

Call or email for
demo or reservation:
678-752-7063
info@TripleDareStunts.com

TRIPLEDARE
STUNTS, LLC
ACTION RIGGING AND DESIGN

